A farmland preservation (FP) agreement is a commitment between a landowner and the state to keep land in agricultural use and implement soil and water conservation standards on a farm. For FP agreements applied for prior to July 1, 2009, the record includes the original recorded legal agreement between landowners and the State of Wisconsin. Records include landowner applications, documentation of ownership (deeds, land contracts, etc.), property tax bills, aerial photographs and maps, income tax information, correspondence and recorded agreements or prior agreements. Agreements range from 10 to 25 years. Agreements under Wis. Stat. ch. 91, 2007 ended with the enactment of a new Wis. Stat. ch. 91, 2009. Agreement files include applications that contain social security numbers, phone numbers, land descriptions, and addresses. Pre-2009 agreements and supporting documentation must be maintained for a year after their natural expiration and must be relinquished in accordance with Wis. Stat. § 91.19, 2007. Farmland preservation plans are county agricultural preservation plan text and map(s) certified under the authority of Wis. Stat. § 91.16 for counties participating in the farmland preservation program. For lands to be included in a certified farmland preservation zoning ordinance, within a state designated Agricultural Enterprise Area (AEA), to be eligible for the Purchase of an Agricultural Conservation Easement (PACE), or to be covered by a farmland preservation agreement, the land must first be identified as a farmland preservation area in the certified county farmland preservation plan. Supporting documentation for plans signed after 2009 include certification order signed by Secretary of Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DA TCP). Plans may include an initial certification in addition to map and or text amendments. Plan and supporting documentation may include text, maps, spatial data, correspondence, applications, cover memos and related certification, extension or termination orders. Farmland owners, in cooperation with local governments and other agricultural and environmental stakeholders, may petition for designation of an Agricultural Enterprise Area (AEA) to identify an area of productive agriculture important to Wisconsin's agricultural future. Owning farmland within an AEA affords landowners the option to sign a voluntary farmland preservation agreement. Landowners with effective farmland preservation agreements who meet other eligibility requirements may claim a farmland preservation tax credit under Wis. Stat. § 71.613. The AEA Petition record includes the original application petition submitted by the local sponsors (local government, farmers, land trust, etc.), maps of the AEA, including spatial data, correspondence, and scoring sheets (see 2009 Wis. Stat. § 91.86). The petitions are signed by landowners (a minimum of 5 eligible farmers must sign), the local governments involved, and includes letters of support from other local businesses and interested parties. The designation of AEAs are completed annually through a Designation Order Signed by the Secretary of the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP). In accordance with Wis. Stat. § 91.84, up to 2.0 million acres of land may be designated in AEAs across the state. Per Wis. Stat. § 91.84 (1 m) the designation by order of an AEA remains in effect, unless an order is signed to terminate an AEA. Records must be permanently maintained unless a termination order is issued for an AEA under Wis. Stat. § 91.84 (1 m). A farmland preservation agreement is a commitment between a landowner and the state to keep land in agricultural use and implement soil and water conservation standards on a farm. For farmland preservation agreements applied for after July 1, 2009, the record includes the original recorded legal agreement between landowners and the State of Wisconsin for the farmland preservation program (Wis. Stat. § 91.60, 2009), landowner applications, documentation of ownership (deeds, land contracts, etc.), property tax bills, copies of aerial photographs and maps, correspondence and may include prior agreements. The agreements are for 15 years and must be located within a state designated Agricultural Enterprise Area (AEA). Agreement files may also contain documentation to release land from an effective farmland preservation agreement under Wis. Stat. § 91.66. Where land has been released from a farmland preservation agreement, the file may also contain a recorded release, application for release signed by the landowner, maps, a legal description of the released land and relevant correspondence. The purchase of agricultural conservation easement (PACE) program provides funding for the purchase easements under Wis. Stat. §. 93. 73, from willing agricultural landowners. Land under easement is permanently protected for agricultural use and participating landowners were compensated for limiting development on enrolled farms. The Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP) co-holds 17 easements with cooperating entities. PACE files include the original recorded PACE easement between landowners and the State of Wisconsin and the local cooperating entity(ies), applications, agreement with the cooperating entity (including details of the financial transaction), aerial photos and maps, property tax bills, title searches, and scoring sheets related to the application for PACE. Supporting documentation may also include title searches, deeds, baseline documentation, appraisals, appraisal reviews, and property tax bills collected under the authority of Wis. Stats.§§. 93.73 and 700.40.

The perpetual conservation easements are authorized under Wis. Stat. § 93.73 (7)(b), and the duration of the easement is set by statute, the easement document and Wis. Stat. §. 700.40(2). The conservation easement is in perpetuity and supporting documentation must be permanently retained.

00216000. AGRICULTURAL CHEMICAL CLEAN-UP PROGRAM (ACCP) REMEDIATION AN P PERM Y

The record series includes records of sites that have environmental contamination resulting from the discharge of agricultural chemicals. Most sites have residual contamination at time of case closure. Records may include work plans, reports, bids, cost estimates, correspondence, special orders, land spreading permits, lab reports, and information about contaminants remaining at time of case closure.

Authority for these records is within Wis. Stat. § 94.73, and Wis. Admin. Code ch. ATCP 35. Authority for cleanups is under Wis. Stat. 292, Wis. Admin. Code ch. NR 700 rule series, and a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Permanent Justification: To align records disposition with DNR records disposition for long-term environmental cleanup cases. These records will be retained permanently. They provide site specific environmental information for conducting environmental assessments of properties, as part of due diligence to meet the public interest, assess property contamination, and determine liability over time.

The official record will be maintained electronically for the full retention period. To comply with Wis. Stat. §§ 16.61(7) and 137.20 for authenticity, accuracy, and accessibility the original input documents will be imaged or reformatted and subject to review, to ensure the images of these records are electronically stored and the quality of these images is acceptable. Upon verification of the quality and retention of the electronic images, the Input record will be destroyed [confidentially].

Court cases which name the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP) or its employees as defendants or interested parties. This includes the following cases:

- A. State and federal court actions challenging DATCP rules or administrative actions.
- B. Circuit court review of DATCP decisions in administrative "contested cases".
- C. Appellate court proceedings in which DATCP is an interested party.
- D. Personnel cases filed against DATCP in the Wisconsin Personnel Commission, the federal EEOC, or DILHR.
- E. Damage actions filed against DATCP or its employees in state or federal court.
- F. Notice of claim filed with the Wisconsin Department of Justice under S. 893.82, Stats., as a prelude to a damage claim in court
- G. Damage claims filed with the Wisconsin Claims Board under S.16.007, Stats.
- H. Bankruptcy proceedings related to daily plant, grain warehouse or food processor insolvencies.
- I. Farm foreclosure actions or bankruptcies in which DATCP is required to defend its farmland preservation lien.

Contents in these files vary, depending on the nature of the case. Contents include pleadings, correspondence, memoranda, briefs, decision and other materials related to the case.

These cases ordinarily originate from outside the department. A case typically starts when the department receives a complaint, notice or pleading to which the department must respond. When the complaint, notice or pleading is received, the legal section administrative assistant records the receipt in a computerized case log and created a case file for the case.

Personnel related court cases superseded by general schedule 2/1997
