This series includes the public records created during the disaster recovery process, which include but are not limited to indexes, inventory lists, computer logs, working papers, and correspondence. This series also includes computer tapes, or other media, which are held in reserve in the event that an information system fails to function, and records need to be recovered and restored. Most often, disaster recovery records are obsolete after two weeks, because they are superseded by newly created records following routine business cycles. Therefore, the records retention time period reflects the routine business cycle for this records series. UW institutions may extend this retention period using a separate written policy, but no UW institution shall adopt a shorter business cycle than two weeks.

Confidential under Wis. SS Stats. 19.62(5)

RETENTION: EVENT (Date of disaster/event) + 14 days and destroy/delete
Copies: destroy when no longer needed.

Notes: Back-Up

There is no retention schedule for back-up tapes or other forms of data back-up. A back-up tape or drive should be just that: a data/records back-up kept solely as a security precaution but not intended to serve as the record copy or as a records retention tool.

In the case of disaster, the back-up would be used to restore lost records; otherwise, university records that have not met their retention should not be disposed of on the basis of the existence of a back-up. If for any reason (for instance, a disaster erases e-mails on your server) the only existing copy of an item that has not met its retention period is on a back-up tape or drive, the custodial agency of that record must ensure that the record on the back-up is maintained for the appropriate retention period. A back-up containing record copies/only existing copies of items that have not passed their retention would have to be retained for the length of the longest unmet retention period. Preferably, the records should be restored to the agency from the back-up to ensure that the back-up is not used as a records retention tool.

UWPAY020. CORE PAYROLL HISTORY DATA	CR+50	DEST	N
--	--------------	-------------	----------

NOTE: The wording for this record series remains the same as it was in the original GRS. The Department of Administration does not maintain a central payroll roster or data file for the University of Wisconsin System. The responsibility for maintaining a permanent payroll history data will continue with HRS. The retention period is 50 years. Currently, this long-term retention requirement is met by microfiche.

This electronic file includes the results of personnel transactions affecting employee's payroll such as hires, transfers, terminations, reclassifications and reallocations. Files contain data elements for each employee, including appointments, deductions, hours, payroll balances, deduction balances, and retroactive adjustments to hours worked, lump-sum pay adjustments, dollar and hour balance adjustments, refunds, wage assignments and check cancellations. This electronic file functions as the source for federal and state tax reporting, W-2 production and other year-end reports.

The HRS Core Payroll data file is created when payroll calculation data is created/added to the employee permanent payroll history after the payroll confirmation process has been run.

The payroll microfiche jacket will contain the following types of information: date of payroll, type of payroll, gross earnings, and deferred items. The jacket will be maintained with the Master Payroll Fiche for 50 years. REVISED: This paragraph was added by the Public Records Board 11/19/97.
